

A Culture that Feels Like Family

Sunny View, Front Porch's retirement community in Cupertino, has a culture that feels like family. As sales and marketing assistant, I have the privilege of assisting prospective residents move to Sunny View. In addition to our wonderful residents, we have great staff that listen, support and respect our residents and each other.

I can go to my supervisor anytime about anything and I hear from my colleagues that is the predominate feeling here. Working at Sunny View does not feel like a 9-5 job because I am in a great environment with good people who share a commitment of making a difference in someone's life every day.

Sunny View is a place where I am encouraged to be the best I can be and be supported to achieve that.
